Subjoined we give our readers the statement of a passenger on board the ill-fated ship Central America, which they will find more full than any of the telegraphic reports of this heart-rending catastrophe. We also republish a partial list of Mr. Birch in his return to the surface, had inthe rescued passengers. The accounts which have reached us make it appear that the chief by these, reached a hatchway, ou which there engineer was much to be blamed for the loss of self to this with the piece of rope, and with his lamin promises at an early day to set forthall the Statement of Mr. Wm. Birch.

From the Baltimore American of Saturday Evening. From Mr. Wm. Birch, of the San Francisco Minstrels, whose wife is among the saved on board the brig Marine, and who was himself fished up by the bark Ellen, after six hours exposure in the water, we obtained some interesting particu-lars of the fearful experien e which he has goue through. The voyage of the Central America from Aspinwall to Havana had been exceedingly pleasant, the officers were attentive and apparently eareful of the safety of the ship, and all were pleased with the vessel and her rapid sailing.— They left Havana on Tuesday, the 8th, with a pleasant prospect of soon completing their trip. On Wednesday it commenced blowing very strongly, and throughout the day the gale in-creased in fury. The night was dismal and fearful, though everything on board the steamer still wore an aspect of safety, and no apprehension of the calamity that succeeded were then entertained. It however rained heavily whilst the wind seemed every hour to gain new violence. All day Thursday and during Thursday night the hur-ricane continued without apparently a moment's cessation. On Friday morning it became known among the passengers that the vessel was leaking, and it also then became evident that difficulty was experienced in maintaining a sufficient head of steam to keep the vessel's head to the sea.-The difficulty in maintaining the fires, as Mr. Birch was informed by one of the engineers, was occasioned by their having to use refuse coal, the good coal being covered by the water and out of reach The waiters and firemen were then organized in to gangs and commenced passing coal into the engine room. The water, however, gained stead ily, the steam grew less and less, and the engines fell into the trough of the sea, and commenced la-boring, but not very heavily. The passengers were then called aft, informed of the danger of their position, with which they were already fully impressed. They were organized into parties for the purpose of bailing, knowing that upon these efforts depended their only hope of safety. The water was passed up in buckets by files of men. what abated, and though the steamer was then almost water-logged, the bailing operations were continued with the hope of keeping her afloat until relief eame from some passing vessel. The behavior of both passengers and crew, Mr Birch, the supposition, is that they are probably and all with whom we conversed, describes as ad-They were ealm, orderly and courageous, cheerfully obeying the directions given and promptly relieving each other in their efforts to tance. keep the water down. The females on board were especially marked by that fortitude and presence ni mind, which is so often developed by the sex in hours of great danger

Saturday morning wore slowly and wearily way. The tremendous exertions of the bailers seemed to have no effect upon the water, the la boring of the vessel caused the lenk to gain fastboring of the vessel caused the leak to gain faster and faster, and death for the greater portion at least of those on board, seemed inevitable. Still a good degree of order was maintained. Even in passed near the scene of disaster, and answering others on deck were scanning the horizon in search rescuing 49 persons, which she brought in of a sail, or devising means for their safety when day. the final plunge came.

About two o'clock on Saturday alternoon a glad cry announced an approaching vessel. The flag of the steamer was set at half mast, and by Capt. Herndon's directions, guns were fired. These signals attracted the desired attention and soon the vessel, which proved to be the brig Marine, of Boston bore down. The brig was in a crippled condition, having had carried away part of her mainmasts, but the promptness with which she answered the signals, and the readiness with which she came too, cheered the hearts of the passengers and gave them an almost assured hope of The gale was abating, and once on board the brig there seemed no doubt she would be able into port with all. The boats of the ste er, two of which had previously been stoved or bany, New York. washed away during the gale, were got out, and by Capt. Herndon's directions, in the propriety of which the male passengers willingly acquiesced, the women and children were first placed in the The greater portion of them were safely stowed in the two first boats and started for the brig. In the third boat Mr. Birch saw the first engineer, George E. Ashby, with three ladies who were last in leaving the ship Another man jumped into the boat and Ashby ordered him out. and threatened him with a dirk for not going. Mr. Birch was acquainted with Ashby and called to bim to take him on board. He directed him to find James Birch, United States mail contractor, who was on board. He went in search of his namesake, found him in his state room changing his clothes, told him the boat was waiting and im mediately returned to the side. The engineer was then at some distance, with but a few persons on board. His leaving the ship was said to be in opposition to the Captain's orders, and was gen erally censured by the passengers.

The three boats were eagerly watched as they approached the brig, and general feelings of joy were experienced when their passengers were seen safely transferred to her decks. Of the three boats that went off Mr. Birch saw but two return. As these approached the steamer a general rush took place to get in them. One boat was filled immediately and put off. Those in the other boat became alarmed at the rush and shoved off with about half a load. It was then about six o'elock in the evening, the brig had drifted to a considerable distance from the steamer, a heavy sea was still running, and before the boats reachel the ship on their return trip, darkness came

Nothing more was seen of the brig, and the bopes of the passengers, lately so elated by the prospect of safety, gave way to despair. It was evident that no more effor s could be made be fore morning for the transfer of passengers, and every moment the certainty increased that the steamer would float but a short time longer. A few determined men were still working with the buckets and barrels, but the major portion were disposed in different portions of the ship, fasten-arrow from a bow. He was drawn down, down in the vortex eaused by the sinking of the vessel, receiving two severe blows on the shoulder from what he supposed to be an iron bar. In the light ning-like thought of that fearful moment he gave up hope, but finally the downward tendency was arrested and he shot up to the surface amidst a self to this with the piece of rope, and with his companions watched for any sail that might bring relief. When he first rose to the surface, as far as could be seen and everywhere around were heard the shouts and cries of the hundreds who were strugling in the water for life. Gradually these subsided Many, who had secured nothing to float upon, soon sank forever; the others were separated by the force of the waves, and were driven off in groups. All it may be presumed, were earnestly watching for relief, but during many anxious hour none appeared. Shouts continued to re-echo from the different parties, who noped thus to attract attention, and these finally prought to their aid the Norwegian bark Ellen, Capt. Johnsou, who hearing cries of distress res-cued those nearest to him, and learning from them that others were still in the water, continued his search until 9 o'clock the next morning, at which time forty nine persons had been res cued. He continued eruising around the vicinity until afternoon on Sunday, when no more being seen, the Ellen bore away for Norfolk, the near-est point. The conduct of Capt Johnson merits est point. the highest praise. His action in coming to the aid of the sufferers was prompt, and the search continued as long as a hope remained that another life could be saved. His kindness to the saved was afterwards unceasing

Senator Slidell has received a letter from Sen ator Benjamin, dated from the City of Mexico, 14th, announcing that he and his colleague had succeeded in making satisfactory arrangement. with the Mexican Government relative to the Tehuantepec transit route, and that President Comonfort had acted in the matter against the earnest protest our minister, Mr. Forsyth, who amin promises at an early day to set forth all the facts in their proper form, to be laid before the President of the United States.

It is further stated that Mr. Forsyth was over-reached by Mr. Soule, who is represented as the attorney of parties who are opposed to that transit route, the administration having sanctioned or advised the movement which has resulted in annulling the Sloo and Garay grants. It is reason ably inferred that our Government will take the eonduct of Minister Forsyth into serious consideration. Senator Slidell has submitted Mr. Benja nin's letter to the President.

The streets look as if they had been made comewhere else, and dumped here in a huge tangle, and nobody had ever taken the tro straighten them out again. It looks as if some body had been building a lot of cities by contract and the job hadn't come out even, and he had thrown down his remnants of streets, and odd ends of alleys, and little snipped off bits of lanes and avenues, and called it Boston. If any street in the town should be cut a straight mile in any lirection it would go through a dozen private parlors and forty five public music halls. Iu fact, Boston looks as if first rate material for an excellent city had been melted and poured through a seive on a side hill and left to cool.

The first premotitary symptom of the sinking of the steamer was a heavy lurch when a large wave struck and went over her. A good many were swept off by this, others seeing that the final moment was approaching jumped off, and were carried away by the drift of the sea.

Mr. Birch had lied a short rope to his arm, thinking it might be useful, and started forward where a raft was in progress of construction. On the wheelbouse of the wheelbouse he saw Capt. Hernoon still calm and self-possessed. Remembering that Captain Luce, who was on the wheelbouse of the Arctic when she went down, was saved by clinging to the, the for a moment though of taking a position by Captain Herndon. the Democratic candidate for Governor of Missouri, uses the following lauguage.

"And the Know Nothings! They have fairly done for themselves this time. It is the first time that, in a Southern State—iu a slave State—this party has attempted to obtain power and office by an open and shameless compact with the Black

How strikingly the above sentence from the Leader contrasts with the reckless articles which have appeared in the Democratic organs in Ken tucky during the last two or three years. The Leader declares that the recent election in Missouri was the first contest, in a Southern State, in which the Americans ever allied themselves with the Black Republicaus. But ever since the or ganization of the American party the Democratic papers of this State, have charged that the Americans were not only allied to the Republicans, but in sentiment and doctrine substantially agreed with them.

It would be well for the Leader and the Demo cratic papers which copy the Leader's article, it they would inform the people of the Southern States who the Republicans are with whom the American party of Missouri are charged with having made "an open and shameless contract." If the National Democratic papers of that State have not most shamelessly falsified the facts of the case these REPUBLICANS are the same free soil Democrats of Missouri who always resisted the Old Whig party, and who, last fall, cordially supported Mr Bu hanan against Fillmore and Fremont. These Democrats compass the only Republican party which exists in Missouri, and i their own allies and friends chose to join the American party, surely National Democrats should not denounce. Americans as Republicans because a large portion of the Democratic voters chose to cast their suffrages for the American candidate

There is nother very noticeable fact about th election in Missouri. While all the Democratic patiers in M ssouri were denouncing Rollins as an Emancipationist and Republican, Rollins was the owner of thirty slaves-just twenty eight more than were possessed by the entire Democratic editorial corps of Missouri with their candidate for Governor thrown in. From this and simila facts it would appear to one not acquainted with Democratic tactics, that slavery in Missouri operares to the disadvantage of the slaveholder and to the advantage of the non slaveholder-since the non slaveholders profess to be the peculiaprotectors of the institution and charge the slave holders with conspiring against it. Whoever saw a lounging, good for nothing, loafing, money less, strolling Democrat-who never owned negro and who has no prospect of ever owning one -who was not trembling with terror lest th wealthy and intelligent farmer, voting the Amer ican ticket, and owning a hundred negroes, would set those negroes free and go to work in his own coin-field?

CAPT. JOHN W. LEATHERS .- The worthy gen tleman whose name is placed at the head of this paragraph has evidently become excited On readers will remember that the Captain, who is an old-fashioned genuine Democrat, was defeated Kenton county by an Old Line Whig, Mr. Fisk, Democratic ranks. Subsequently Capt. Leathers ran against Fisk as an independent Democrat. and was defeated. Since that time a wordy war ington. In the Capt.'s last letter he applies to Mr. Yates the epithets of "political scavenger and whistle toot," "slide valve gasometer," "impudent pup." "irresponsible gassy scavenger," "renegade and contemptible, noisy blow toot " The Captain for merly "followed the river," and it will be perceiv ed by the technical terms he applies to his antag onist that he has not entirely forgotten his old

IT ln speaking of the charge made by the Black Republicans that the Democrats of Penn sylvania were afraid of the discussion of the slavery question, the Louisville Democrat has the

"The way Democrats discuss these matters very inconvenient to the brethren. They think it isn't fair Democrats don't discuss the subject to snit them.

That is not the best of the joke. The way in which Democrats discuss the slavery question in one section does not suit the Democrats in another section of the country. The Democrats discuss the question in one way one year, but that way does not suit the Democrats themselves the next year

The greedy cormorants who are at present living on the hopes of being able, at some future time, to live on the Federal patronage have many ways of introducing themselves to the notice of the Chief Executive. They have adupted the plan at this present moment of writing commu nications to some of the Democratic journals puffing Mr. Buchanan's letter to the D. D's and the Professors of New Haven These communi cations are often, doubtless, inclosed in letters to the dispenser of crumbs.

IT The Shelby News says that "probably it is not generally known that Shelby county contains the oldest tunnel in the United States of which we have any account, yet such is the fact. Would that our citizens would arouse themselves and finish the railroad from here to Louisville. Fully one half the work is done; and it is a slur on the enterprise of our citizens to permit the road to continue in the state it is now. Cannot a movement be made to have it finished? Let the will be manifested, and the way will be open."

New Movement by the Central Kentucky Banks.

We learn from good authority, says the Cincinnati Daily Times, that so great has been the deling you in Danville this week, and supposing you mand for specie from the Central Kentucky banks, would like to hear something about the Comthat they have refused to loan their funds to mer- meneement and the exercises connected with it, I FRIDAY ......SEPT 25, 1857. chants who intend to purchase their goods in this have concluded to drop von a brief notice of it. eity. The reason alleged by them is that as soon On Tuesday evening the Deinologian and The St. Louis Leader, of the 27th ult., in a as their notes reach Cincinnati, they are thrown Chamberlain Societies were addressed by the long article announcing the election of Stewart, into the hands of our Third street brokers, and Rev. Mr Workell, of Covington, Ky., on the immediately sent home for redemption. several days before the merchant had returned to his place of business.

The Banks claim that they are acting on the lefensive, and will continue to do so just as long as such an unjustifiable drain is made upon them. A little more than a year since we had a similar cene with the Indiana Banks, but in that case the trouble came from a lack of confidence in the people, who threw it into the hands of the brokers on that account. With the Kentucky Banks there is no such fear. They are known to be good or all their habilities

We can suggest but one remedy, and that is, that our merchants, as far as possible, hold on to such funds, and use every means to prevent them finding their way into the hands of brokers We know that the money market is tight, and that our merchants are forced to use almost all their available funds, but nevertheless, as far as they can, we think it would be advisable to miti gate the evil we have referred to. Kentucky trade is important to our city, and we have always engaged a large portion of it, and in return we should do all we can to shield our neighbors from the drain that is now, we regret to learn, being made upon them.

HARVEY, a valuable colored man belonging to ludge Mason Brown, was drowned in the river. near Macklin's wharf, on yesterday, (24th inst.) bout 12 o'clock.

The circumstances attending this unfortunate accident were invested with unusual interest, alling forth a degree of heroism and self pos ession in two very small boys, but rarely exnibited by grown men. It seems that Yoder, the little son of Judge Brown, and William, a box about the same age and son of Dr. Phythian, had discovered a wild duck on the opposite side of the river, and getting a gun were about crossing in a very small badly constructed plank boat, when they were joined by Harvey, who was followed by pointer dog swimming the river. They crossed in safety, but on the return when about the middle of the stream Harvey, who could not swim. was amusing himself by playing with the dog and attempted to pull him into the boat. In an instant the boat was capsized and all three left poat at the shore, struck boldly out for it, gained it although nearly exhausted, put back to the seene of struggle but reached it a moment too late. Yoder, in the meantime, kept close by Harvey, encouraging him by his voice-trying to hold him un in his arms, was twice carried down for the Democratic nomination for Senator in by the struggling man, got loose from him by ome almost miraculous manner, darted around whom he denominates as an interloper in the to his back, still endeavoring to keep him affoat and only left him when he had finally sunk from sight. He then pushed for the overturned boat. endeavoring to shove it to where he had last seen in the newspapers has been waged between Capt. him, but the little fellow's strength was so ex-Leathers and a Mr George A Yates, of Cov hausted by his efforts that he had barely strength left to keep his own hold on the boat. The two hovs met together in the stream but their com panion was gone forever. Seldom have we seen a more mournful group than when the boys had gain ed the shore. No men had arrived, but women and children who had witnessed the catastrophe were unning up and down the bank in terror, and horror stricken. The little fellows, scarce less horrifi ed, were mourning over their fruitless efforts .-'Oh mother," said Yoder, "if I had only been a man I could have saved Harvey-I held ou to him as long as I could-I went down with him twice, but it was no use!" "And oh," said Billy, if I had only had strength enough, if my clothend big coat had'nt weighted me down I could have got to him-if he could only have kept up half a minute longer we would have saved him. Little boys-you had the will but not the power! In after years it may happen that the brave and self sacrificing qualities you displayed on this day may be called into action and be successful ly exerted in a cause worthy of the most exalted nanhood .. You have already proved vourselves worthy of the name of Kentuckians.

AN EYE WITNESS.

THE ARGUMENT OF A JESUIT .- The Freeman's Journal, well known as the organ of Archbishop Hughes, is quite certain that if ever the Union kept together, Protestantism must be got rid of as soon as possible! The recent meeting of the (Pro-slavery) New School Presbyterians, at Richnond-condemnatory of the action of the (Anti slavery) brethren at Cleveland-"sects" and sec tions" in practice and theory, at war with the Union-are cited as illustrations. The Arch bishop's organ comes down severely upon North ern and Southern Presbyterianism in particular, and Protestantism in general. The sectional war between Protestant churches in this country amuses and pleases the organs and subjects of the Romish Hierarchy.

A LIVE MAN SOLD FOR SOAP FAT. -A Spanish journal states that a son, whose father being in a state of iliotey was a heavy burthern to him. gravely proposed to a neighbor to sell the old man, who was very fat, to be melted down into grease! The neighbor having consented, a bargain was struck for eight hundred rails, and the purchaser procured a large cauldron in which to boil the old man; but the authorities having heard Methodist Ministers of the West, known as the of the atrocious affair, had the buyer and seller

Col. Benton .- The St. Louis Republican of Monday says that Col. Brant was summoned to Washington City on Sunday, by dispatches stat ing that Col. Benton had experienced an unfavorable change in his health, and that his presence them you can learn what action was taken in dent Jackson, died in Baltimore on Friday. He was deemed necessary. Col. Brant left in the afwas one of the defenders of that city in the war ternoon train on Sunday, and will doubtless reach memory of Dr. Young. Washington on Monday.

As this The reputation of the Kentucky banks is al- address will, perhaps, be published, I deem it un ready well established, and in their own State necessary to aid any comment, except to say is not the slightest fears in regard to their abilty | jndgment and sound practical advice-during its to pay, but the premium on gold induces our entire delivery the speaker held his audience in rokers to make a demand where it is most con- fixed and earnest attention. This was followed the Chevenne Expedition will embodden the enient, and where it will most certainly be re- by an address from H. M. Scunder-a studen ponded to. In one case a large amount that of the Theological Seminary-at the close of ad been loaned to a Kentucky merchant for the which he delivered the diplomas to the gradupurpose of purchasing goods in this city, actually ating members of the Chamberlain Society. Mr ound its way back in the original packages for Scudder's address was brief but very appropriate redemption, to the bank from which it was taken, He paid a passing tribute to the memory of the late President of the College, mentioned his extensive benevolence, his christian charity, his polished scholarship, his profoundness as a theo logian, his success as a teacher and the many virtues which adorned his character all through life, is Republican. and which rendered him so dear to all who knew

On Wednesday evening W. P. C. BRECKIN RIDGE, of Lexington, Ky., addressed the Athenean Society and delivered the diplomas. His subject, brief: 'The Study of History," was handled in a masterly manner; for profoundness of thought, depth of research, beauty of composition and earnestness of delivery, this far exceeded any of his former efforts. He fully came up to the high expectation of his friends and admirers.

On the same evening ROBERT J WAGGONER, Esq., of Danville, Ky., delivered an address beore the Deinologian Society, subject "Religion the Great Conservator of Society." The sentiment was conservative, the composition smooth and elegant; his closing remarks to the members of the society were very appropriate.

On Thursday morning an anusually brilliant ssemblage filled the First Presbyterian Church to its utmost capacity, visitors from abroad, strau gers from the surrounding country, youth, beauty and talent were present to witness the display of oratory. Mr J K. Sunnal, of Mayslick, Ky., pened the exercises with an English Salutatory and oration. It was well gotten up-chaste and ppropriate. His remarks in reference to the va ancy occasioned by the death of Dr. Young were truly touching, the breathless attention of the indience showed how highly they appreciated very thing said of that good and great man .-Modesty of True Knowledge" was his subjecte discussed it in a very able mouner, his argunent throughout was clear and convincing, he poke with extreme precision and directness and ept close to his subject. Mr. Sumral is certainy a profound thinker and a close reasoner, his entire speech may be regarded as a model of chaste, clear and cogent reasoning.

All the performances of the morning were cred table and many of them excellent; my attention was directed especially to two. Mr. W. Crow, of Waveland, Ky., delivered a most excellent speech. His subject was "The Trial." His whole speech was characterized by his usual good sense struggling in the water. William, seeing another Fully did he prove the power of that Roman virtue, perseverance, which plucks success "E'en from the spear-proof crest of rugged danger;' he set forth in good style the difficulties which every young man who enters the world, dependent on his own efforts, meets, and that it requires courage, confidence and perseverance to over come them, that a wise P rovidence often permit difficulties to stand in the way that we may over come them, and that only in overcoming them do ve find happiness and success-for, the mind like the body, gains strength and maturity by manly, vigorous, exercise-his illustrations were very appropriate, his style vigorous and his deas "fail." Eloquently did he urge upon his asociates the necessity of sticking to their aim.

"Stick to your aim; the mongrel's hold will slip, But only crow-bars loose the bull-dog's lip; Small as he looks, the jaw that never yields. Drags down the bellowing monarch of the fields."

Mr. Horace Rice, of Tennessee, followed Mr Crow-subject, "Ill-regulated Public Spirit." He howed that the tendency of this spirit is to applaud successful revolutionizers and to herald broad their names as the champious of human ights and human freedom-but to brand as filli asters and wild fanatics all who fail in accomolishing any enterprize, no matter how just or how raiseworthy. He depicted in glowing style how his "ill-regulated" and ill-directed spirit of the North, in its raving fanaticism has poisoned our olitics-deranged public opinion-aroused sec onal feelings-and that, spurred on by a false hilanthropy, it has already gathered under the olds of its "black flag" thirteen States of the nion-that the South in self-defense, like the goaded lion, will soon be compelled to turn upon ts pursuers, and, smarting under wrongs and in sults, will hurl defiance full in their face and cheek their insolent aggressions.

Mr. J. G. SIMRALL, of Fayette county, Kentucky, commenced the exercises of the evening by delivering a Greek Oration. Some of the speeches of the evening I did not hear and cannot therefore describe them. I fortunately, how ever, did hear that of J. C. Young, (son of the late Dr. Young,) of Danville Ky .- his subject was "The Huguenots of France." This was his first public effort, and nobly did he sustain him self. He carried a deep and lasting convictiou to the audience of the superiority of his talents and eloquence, young as he is he showed that he has already drunk deep drafts from the pure foun tain of eloquence. He, undoubtedly, is gifted with a mind of a very superior order and ere long will be foremost in the ranks of orators. Josh BARBEE's "Political Speech" was well received by the audience. It was a good burlesque on modern stump speaking and broke up the monoto ny of the protracted exercises.

All the speeches (which I heard) both in style and matter were so unexceptionable that only "a catcher at words" might venture to take exception. The graduates acquitted themselves in a manner highly creditable to themselves and well calculated to reflect honor upon Centre College. The exercises were agreeably varied by "soul stirring music" from Straus's Band and the whole scene was animated by the graceful forms of lovely women, whose sparkling eyes and smiling lips betokened the pleasure they enjoyed and the interest they took in the whole proceedings. The proceedings of the meeting held by the Alumni failing to give security for costs. of the College will all be published and from reference to the monument to be erected to the Yours. &c.

ACCOUNTING FOR IT .- The St. Louis Leader If the day as exhibited in our calender of crime, He will sell his goods as low as the lowest. nore appalling even than that of England or of any other in the world, and thus states the cause of it: "The materialism and the passion for wealth and display which are the besetting sins of our respectable and non-criminal society menish no adequate principle that can cheek the daily encroachment of viler passions upon the young. In good society, the delicacy of maideunood, and the purity of the matronage, are yield ng before the literature, the amusements, the lances and the extravagance in dress which now prevails. Society in America is approaching y rapid strides to a corruption like that of Rome ust before Cæsar was struck down, the Republic of France before Robespierre overthrew the mon archy. A CHALLENGE TO MISSOURI AND ILLINOIS-Fat Cuttle at the St. Louis Fair-A Banter from Old Kentucky .- The St. Louis Intelligencer is authorsed to make a banter from Isaac Snelby, Sr., o Lexington, Ky, to show the following fat cattle, our years old and over, from his farm in Lincoln ounty in that State, at the St. Louis fair, which vill commence next week.

1. A match of $250 of plate for the three best fat bullocks or the five best fat cattle.

TO GET RID OF MARRIAGEABLE DAUGHTERS .- A thriving trader in Wisconsin, claiming the pashment of his neighbors, succeeded in marrying them all off in six months. SOAP-25 boxes No. 1 Rosin Soup;

THIS is an ingonius machine, for which letters pat ent were granted to Mr. Hozza Willard in May last. It was exhibited during the last reason at several State Fairs, always commanding universal admiration. Large quantities are now being manufactured for needuring the coming spring, and it is believed that a machine that accomplishes so great a saving of labor, must at once come into general use. It is especially adapted for the South, and our enterprising planters will find it worthy of their attention. The machine is of about the size of an ordinary cart. The following description is from a late number of the United States Journal:

"To the agriculturist this is, undoubtedly, the most valuable patent that has been issued for many years. It is lutended for sowing broadcast, covering and harrowing at the same time, for sowing in drills and also for planting in hitis, and will accomplish either object as well as could possibly be done by hand. The grain is placed in cylinders, which are made to revolve with the motion of the whe is of the cart. As the holders rotate the grain passes out through the screens to the ground. The seed are evenly distributed and the machine may be regulated to sow any given amount to the acre with perfect accuracy. The grain is covered by the revolving harrow, which receiv sits motion from the cart wheels. This harrow revolves with great rapidity in the opposite direction from its forward motion, thus harrowing up the ground instead of matting it down, and leaving them behind instead of drawing them together in bunches as with the common harrow. The holders can easily be taken of, and the revolving harrow used for meliowing and preparing the ground, which can be accomplished with it much more rapidity and efficiently than with u harrow constructed on any other pian.

"For sowing in drills the harrow is taken of and the guides, as seen in the eugraving on the inclined board, are chauged so as to make the seeds drop into the drills prepared by furrowers, attached just ahead of the board. 20 bbls Eastern Grushed Sugar; 20 bbls Eastern Powdered Sugar; 10 bbls Eastern Granulated Sugar; 4 boxes Double Refined Loaf Sugar; 5 bbls small Loaf Sugar; just received and for OFFEE50 sacks Old Eastern Rio Coffee, No. 1 article, 40 pockets Java Coffee, very fine; in store and for

A coverer for each furrow is attached just behind, constructed so as to hoe the light dirt on to the furrow, and compressing it upon the seeds.

"The arrangement is the same for plauting in hills, excepting that the guides are changed so as to drop the seeds into hills. It can be regulated to drop any number of grains to each hill, to make the hills any distance apart, and to coverto any depth that may be required. The attachment for planting and covering is very sample, and so ingeniously arranged as to prevent the lumps and stones from beling thrown upon the grain, while it compresses the dirt upon the seeds much better than could be done with either hoe or roller.

"Another very valuable feature about this machine is an attachment for preparing cotton seed, consisting of an extra cylinder in which the seed is placed, made to revoive by the motion of the wheels in the same manner as the other. By this arrangement the seed is prepared at the same time it is being dropped from the other cylinder, and can be planted with this machine without rubbing or any other previous preparation, as well as other kinds of grain.

"The whole machine is extremely simple in its construction, is no more liable to get out of order, and is a easily worked as any ordinary agricultural implement. Although entirely new, it is no doubtful experiment, as it has been thoroughly tried for all purposes, and its practical operation exhibited during the last season at various State Fairs, commanding in all cases the universal admiration of the whole agricultural community."

The machines are now being mannfactured and sold by J. M. Emerson & Co., No. 1 Spruce Street, New York, at the following
